

ORVW at Blue OX RV Park, Albany, OR
March 16 – 20, 2017

Blue Ox RV Park, Albany, Oregon was the designated place to be for ORVW to start out their new year of camping. The evening of March 17th arrived with a lively St. Pat's Day celebration. The room and tables were theme decorated and dinner came with favorite Irish dishes. The ladies arrived in St. Pat's colors from head to toe. Two fun filled contests were held for best hat and best jewelry. The ladies paraded around to draw attention from the judges.

A rainy Saturday morning welcomed the ladies to a big pot of oatmeal with all the trimmings to warm us up. Later in the afternoon, the sun made an appearance and several ladies ventured into the historic downtown area to visit The Carousel Museum. Each animal is hand carved and painted by volunteers.

Back at the park, a rousing camp song sung by dinner attendees sent the ladies to the food line. The usual games followed dinner each evening as well as a jigsaw puzzle in the corner.

Hot cakes and scrambled eggs greeted the ladies Sunday morning. It was a lazy day for many with lots of catching up to do. A few of the ladies practiced their musical instruments for another time of entertaining. As evening drew near, 18 of us met in a local restaurant for our Sunday night meal.

A weekend of smiles, fun and laughter by all.

Article submitted by Pat Lyons

Photos by Ginger Jennings and June Willoughby